Travail et Société : la part du féminin / The Role of Women in Work and Society

Novembre 5-7, 2014

Présentation

En France, l'histoire des femmes a connu un grand essor depuis une trentaine d'années, mais les recherches sont concentrées sur l'Occident. Or, dans le domaine très vaste de l'histoire mésopotamienne, il existe de nombreuses études ponctuelles en histoire des femmes et du genre, mais encore peu de synthèses. L'histoire économique est, par ailleurs, un domaine bien représenté en assyriologie, du fait de la conservation de dizaines de milliers de tablettes d'argile enregistrant des opérations administratives, des contrats, ainsi que des actes relevant du droit familial. En dépit de cette richesse, l'histoire du travail est restée un parent pauvre de l'histoire économique. Le colloque a pour ambition d'envisager les occupations économiques dans lesquelles interviennent des femmes, dans une perspective du genre, sur les trois millénaires d'histoire proche-orientale, en faisant participer une trentaine de chercheurs de divers pays.

Presentation

French historians are concerned by women's history since thirty years, but studies are mainly dealing with the Occident. For the ancient Near East, there is now a great deal of limited studies on women and gender history, but few syntheses. Furthermore, economic history is well represented in Assyriology, thanks to the good preservation of dozen of thousands of clay tablets recording administrative operations, contracts and acts dealing with family law. Despite these voluminous sources, the topic of work has not been much addressed. The thirty participants of this conference will examine the various economic occupations involving women, in a gender perspective, over the three millennia of Near Eastern history.
